Witty Astronauts Tell Flight Story

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The two astronauts of the Molly Brown — so sparring of words in space — told the nation their story with wit and charm. Perhaps the junior pilot, John W. Young, said it best when he was asked if the three orbits around the earth had made him more talkative.

He answered: "I think zero G (weightlessness) would make an extrovert of anybody."

His deadpan wry humor and command pilot Virgil I. Grissom's beaming face and crisp narration Thursday speed their first news conference since they returned from a space flight of nearly five hours last Tuesday.

Both men had high praise for the spacecraft they named the Molly Brown. And they emphasized, too, that they felt maneuvering the Molly Brown in space was as great an achievement as the Soviet feat of floating a man outside a spacecraft.

There still was no definite reason established for landing about 60 miles short of the prime target — but Grissom said he thought it might have been a variety of things including too much braking power from the retro rockets.

At launch, Young said, "You can't take your eyes from the window. There aren't words in the English language to describe the sight. I was impressed."

Grissom told of the feeling that "we'd reversed direction" when the powerful retro rockets fired to slow down the spacecraft and bring it to earth.

Young added: "The toughest task in the astronaut business is holding the (spacecraft's) attitude at retro fire. Gus did a phenomenal job. He held it to within one degree. He doesn't usually do that well in the trainer."

Young was impressed by the power of the mighty Titan 2 rocket that propelled them into space.

"When the vehicle pitches over and reaches the horizon, you really know you're hauling the mail," he said.

Young commented good-naturedly on the fact that Grissom, an Air Force major and flight command pilot, was the first out of the spacecraft when it hit the water.

"Contrary to shipboard procedures," said the Navy man, "on the Molly Brown at sea the first one out is the captain."

This brought laughter, and Grissom, laughing too, said, "I just made you captain when I got out."

Young was asked what happened to the Bologna sandwich he had brought aboard. Young asked Grissom how the newsman had heard about that. Then he jerked his head toward Grissom and said, "He ate the sandwich."

Robert Summer of Tiffin was elected as vice president to succeed Sollars.

Johnson Ready To Talk Honor Peace in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — At a moment of mounting crisis in the Vietnamese war, the United States made it known around the world today that President Johnson is, in his own words, "ready to go anywhere at any time and meet with anyone whenever there is promise of progress toward an honorable peace."

This presidential stand for negotiations "based on an end of Communist aggression" against South Viet Nam coincided with publication of an interview with Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China in which Chou accused the United States of expanding aggression in Viet Nam and predicted that China and the Soviet Union would close ranks in the face of any wider conflict.

Johnson said he has no evidence so far of Communist readiness to negotiate an acceptable settlement and added: "There may come a change — if we all remain united."

Chou asserted "the American government will never force the South Vietnamese people and the Democratic Republic of Viet Nam (North Viet Nam) into negotiations by intensifying the war."

The President's readiness to engage personally in peace talks if his conditions are met was declared in a statement he made to a Cabinet meeting Thursday and subsequently made public. It is being circulated to American embassies abroad and broadcast around the world by the Voice of America.

The President spoke out after several days of growing tension here and abroad over the possibility that a much bigger conflict may develop in Southeast Asia.

Within the week, warnings have come from both Peking and Moscow that Soviet and Chinese fighters may enter the war. U.S. officials are inclined to take these warnings seriously for the long run, although they think at the moment Moscow and Peking may be trying primarily to put pressure on the United States and on other countries to restrain the American war effort.

He defined the purpose of U.S. policy as being to assist South Viet Nam as long as necessary to bring Communist aggression and terrorism under control.

Johnson also seemed to hold out to Communist North Viet Nam the prospect that if it would choose peace with a free and independent South Viet Nam, it might expect U.S. assistance. He said the United States looks forward to the day when the people and governments of all Southeast Asia will need only economic and social cooperation. He referred to development on programs already under way in South Viet Nam and elsewhere.

3-Bedroom Homes Sell For $7,000

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—Want to buy a home with three bedrooms, fully carpeted on the first floor and with a stove and refrigerator thrown in—for $7,500?

If so, there are 385 of them for sale here.

The Federal Housing Administration has launched what it calls a "quick sale" program to sell the homes it built here in the early 1950s during the housing boom. The homes were built to help eliminate the housing shortage caused when the Atomic Energy Commission's gaseous diffusion plant was opened.

To help sell the homes fast, the FHA is lowering the monthly payments, lowering down payment and closing costs, raising the rent on current occupants and tossing in the new carpeting, range and refrigerator.

Also available are two - bedroom homes for $7,000.

School Bill OK Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders hope to hand President Johnson a tremendous plum today — passage of his far-reaching school bill.

Never in history has the House passed a bill granting broad federal aid to the nation's elementary and secondary schools, but a powerful Democratic majority in the House appears certain to reach that goal today.

The Democrats beat back all attempts to weaken the key provisions of the bill Thursday, preserving intact its authorization of $1.06 billion in grants designed to improve educational opportunities for children from low-income families. Both public and parochial school students would participate in programs implemented by the funds.

Still to be acted on are provisions that would make $250 million more available for textbooks and library books, educational research, the establishment of supplemental education centers and grants to state education agencies.

Republicans are expected to offer opposition to all of them, but the manner in which they were defeated in their efforts to alter the major provision left them little hope of success.

They centered their fire on the formula by which the $1.06 billion would be funneled to the states for distribution to school districts with concentrations of impoverished children. The Pickaway County Juvenile Court authorities announced today that more rigid enforcement of laws governing school truancies will go into effect here immediately.

Juvenile Judge Guy Cline said today that the alarming increase in the number of truancies and drop-outs had prompted his department to take a closer look at the situation.

In connection with the enforcement of truancy laws in the past, the court has come under sharp criticism by some adults for placing habitual offenders in detention.

Mrs. Jessica Wood, juvenile officer, and Andrew Maze, probation officer, today outlined the procedure followed by the court in the case of school truancies.

FIRST evidence of a student's truancy is brought to the attention of parents via a letter from school officials. If the student continues his truancy, the attendance officer, Mrs. Mary M. Yates, files a complaint against the student with the court and probation is granted. One of the conditions of the probationary sentence is that the student attend classes regularly; if the student does not heed the conditions of his probation, he is then placed in detention.

It was pointed out that during 1963 there were 12 students placed on probation for truancy. In 1964 the figure climbed to 23.

"To date this year," Mrs. Wood said, "there have been 11 students placed on probation on truancy charges."

Court officials quoted sections of the Ohio Revised Code concerning the problem. In compliance with the law, they noted, parents or guardians may be prosecuted. The law reads as follows:

"When any child of compulsory school age, in violation of law, is not attending school, the attendance officer shall notify Newsman at Da Nang said two other Navy planes that landed there showed heavy battle damage. Three other Navy jets landed there still carrying bombs.

The U.S. spokesman declined to say how many planes had participated. He said more than 40 planes from the carriers Hancock and Coral Sea had flown the strike itself, but additional planes had flown on flank-suppression missions.

In the past, flank-suppression planes generally outnumbered the strike planes.

Also planes on interception duty were in the air.

The spokesman said high explosive bombs ranging in size from 250 to 1,000 pounds were used.

A Foreign Office spokesman, announcing this today, made clear that the demands from Moscow and Hanoi are unacceptable to the British government.

The spokesman gave these details of the new communications:

1. A note was received by commercial cable March 22 from Hanoi. Signed by Foreign Minister Suoi Thu, it appealed to the co-chairmen of the 1954 Indochinese conference in Geneva — Britain and the Soviet Union — to condemn the United States for aggressive policy in Viet Nam.

The message was sent through commercial channels because the British have no diplomatic relations with Hanoi.

2. On March 24, the Soviet Foreign Ministry handed the British a note supporting the North Vietnamese appeal. It called on Britain to join the Soviet Union in asking all signatories of the 1954 Geneva agreement to condemn and halt what it said was American aggression in Viet Nam.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — City officials are up in arms over sneaky hit-and-run pigeon feeders.

Don Kay, planning commission chairman, said Thursday that plain clothesmen should be deployed on the city streets to curb the unlawful feeding, claiming the flocking birds are a hazard to pedestrians.

"It won't be easy," said Kay. "These compulsive pigeon feeders are sly ones. They usually drop the feed from their hands or toss it from the window of a parked car."

Navy Bombers Plaster Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy jet bombers attacked four coastal radar stations in North Viet Nam today, one of them only 80 miles from Communist China's Hainan Island.

The raid was by far the deepest penetration into North Viet Nam of any of the 12 raids since Feb. 7.

Two Navy planes were shot down in the Gulf of Tonkin, but both pilots were rescued unhurt by helicopter.

A number of other planes were heavily damaged.

A U.S. Navy spokesman declined at first to rule out the possibility that enemy planes had been involved but said later no enemy planes had been sighted. No Communist planes have been reported sighted on any of the previous raids on North Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi claimed that 12 U.S. and South Vietnamese planes were shot down and many others damaged during the strike today.

Two of the North Vietnamese radar stations were reported heavily damaged and two moderately damaged.

One of the targets was on Bach Long Island, in the Gulf of Tonkin 80 miles from Hainan. Chinese MIG jet interceptors are known to operate from an airbase on the big island.

The other three stations, all within 80 miles of the border between North and South Viet Nam, were at Ha Tinh, Cap Mui Ron and Vinh Son.

A propeller-driven A1E that participated in the raid was forced to crashland at Da Nang Air Base because the pilot could not lower his wheels. He was not injured.

School Truancies Increase; Court Promises Crackdown

Koreans Offer Viet Cong Aid

TOKYO (AP) — Communist North Korea joined Peking today in offering to send men and arms to South Viet Nam if the Viet Cong ask for help.

The offer was made in a government statement broadcast by Pyongyang Radio, Peking made a similar offer Thursday.

North Korea said: "Under the condition in which the U.S. imperialists are steadily expanding the war, the Democratic People's Republic of Korea government will take measures for sending volunteers to South Viet Nam at any time the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front requests."

"The peoples of all Socialist countries can and must supply not only aid of all forms, including weapons, to the South Vietnamese people but also dispatch volunteers, if necessary."

The statement added that "a nationwide movement is now being unfolded in our country for aiding the Vietnamese people and a large number of people are eagerly asking to go as volunteers to aid the fighting South Vietnamese people."

North Korea also again accused the United States of being behind the dispatch recently of 2,000 South Korean troops to aid the South Vietnamese army.

The South Korean government said it troops would be used for noncombat duty.

Red China said Thursday it will send "all necessary material aid, including arms and all other war materials," to the Viet Cong. It added that it was "ready to send our men, whenever the South Vietnamese people want them."

Nhan Dan, the North Viet Nam government paper, reprinted the Peking statement today but made no comment.

Peking and Pyongyang were responding to a broadcast by the Viet Cong's political front Wednesday that it would call for international help — "youth and army men" — if the United States continues to expand the war.

The distraught husband said he told an unidentified presidential aide: "There are five children here and my wife died for a cause that President Johnson believes in."

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said in a television interview that he regretted the incident.

The shooting occurred on a lonely stretch of U.S. 80 near a big swamp. This was the route the marchers trekked from Selma to Montgomery.

Moton told investigators that they were returning to Montgomery to transport a not a group of marchers to Selma.

Moton said an auto pulled alongside about the time he heard something hit and then surged past. After their car stopped, Moton said, he ducked down in the seat when he saw the other auto turn around. A light flashed into their car and then the other auto raced away, he said.

Moton hitchhiked back to Selma and told his story to the march headquarters there. He was being held by Selma police as a material witness.

The shooting occurred only a few hours after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. led 25,000 persons to the Alabama Capitol to climax the 50-mile pilgrimage from Selma to Montgomery.

Wallace refused to see a delegation representing the group or to accept its petition.

White Mother Of 5 Dies on Dixie Highway

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced today that four Ku Klux members have been arrested in Alabama for conspiracy in the slaying of a Detroit mother of five after Thursday's mass civil rights march on Montgomery, Ala.

Johnson paid tribute to FBI agents for the arrests for what Johnson called the "horrible crime."

The federal charge was conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo, 39, who was killed by a shot fired into her car after she had participated in the rights march.

Johnson went on television to make his announcement. With him were Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Johnson identified the four arrested men as Eugene Thomas, 43, of Bessemer; William Orville Eaton, 41, also of Bessemer; Gary Thomas Rose, 31, of Birmingham, and Collie L. Roy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala.

Johnson said the four Klan members will be arraigned immediately and later stand trial.

He said the slain woman was murdered by the enemies of justice, who for decades have used "the rope and gun and tar and feathers" to terrorize their neighbors.

They struck by night as they usually do, he said, because their purpose will not stand the light of day.

"I have fought them all my life," Johnson said, "because their loyalty is not to the United States of America, but to a society of hooded bigots."

Mrs. Liuzzo, mother of five and a postgraduate student at Wayne State University in Detroit, was shuttling marchers from Montgomery to Selma when she was ambushed.

The Detroit mother was driving toward Montgomery to pick up a second group of participants in Thursday's march to the Capitol by an estimated 25,000 persons. Sitting beside her was a Negro youth, Leroy Moton, 19, of Selma.

The victim's husband, Arthur Liuzzo, a business agent for Teamsters Local 247 in Detroit, put in a call to the President and was told by an aide that Johnson would return the call.

Liuzzo said he wanted to ask the President "How come?" and "Where do we go from here?"

The distraught husband said he told an unidentified presidential aide: "There are five children here and my wife died for a cause that President Johnson believes in."

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace said in a television interview that he regretted the incident.

Rhodes Signs 3 Measures

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes signed into law today the first three enactments sent to him by the 106th General Assembly.

They provide for payment of $7.5 million deficiency in state subsidies in public schools this year and set a two-year limit for cashing checks issued by the state.

Officials estimated that the check-cashing deadline would give the treasury a $500,000 windfall from thousands of uncashed checks outstanding since 1948. Requests for the state to honor old checks now must go to the Sundry Claims Board, they said.

Ankle, Hand Injuries Treated at Hospital

Two men received emergency treatment in Berger Hospital yesterday for injuries resulting from unrelated sources. Both were released.

presentation in the White House. Then a motorcade was to carry the space twins to the Capitol, to receive the applause of Congress members for their three-orbit flight Tuesday in the first maneuverable spacecraft.

At Andrews Air Force Base, Md., where the astronauts touched down today after a flight from Cape Kennedy in two twin engine airplanes, an Air Force honor guard formed restraining lines to keep back the cheering spectators.

At a ceremony in the White House rose garden, Grissom and Young received the space agency's Distinguished Service Medal. That will make veteran astronaut Grissom the first two-time winner of the award.

Two of the space program's "heroes on the ground," as Johnson has called them, also are to receive medals. They are Dr. Robert C. Seamans, associate administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and Harris M. Schurmeier, manager of the Ranger project.

Seamans is being honored for his work on the manned space program, moving toward a goal of a man on the moon by 1970. Schurmeier's work at the Jet Propulsion Laboratories, Pasadena, Calif., contributed to this week's second U.S. space triumph, the moonshot which produced live photo transmissions by television until the moment of impact on the moon.

Collins later told a news conference he was talking about the Social Security office, the post office, the agricultural services, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Justice Department and Selma's Craig Air Force Base.

Johnson responded by saying that in all government offices "there must be equal treatment, equal respect, equal service — and equal support — for all American citizens regardless of race or sex or region or religion."

The President said "regional custom, local tradition, personal prejudice or predilection are no excuses, no justification, no defense in this regard."

This was one of several Johnson statements distributed at the hour-long news conference which saw seven officials, including Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, report on the Cabinet meeting.

Some highlights: —Humphrey said he has set up a task force, headed by Collins, to make plans now to avoid summer race riots of the sort that broke out in a number of Northern cities in 1964.

—Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, estimated that racial discrimination is costing the economy $23 billion a year.

—James E. Webb, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said television pictures from the Ranger 9 moon rocket gave "very strong assurance" that there are "two, maybe three places that we could land on the moon."

—Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor predicted a sharp reduction this year in the country's balance-of-payments deficit and said there apparently will be no need for legislative controls to back up the voluntary antideficit program which Johnson wants businessmen and bankers to observe. "Based upon the early results," Connor said, "we think the program adopted by the President will do the trick."

The news conference, the first of its kind but perhaps the forerunner of others like it, was held without advance notice.

Discrimination in Any Federal Agency To Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, confronted by a top official's report that federal offices in the South hire too few Negroes, has ordered a halt to any job discrimination in government agencies.

Johnson got the report Thursday at a Cabinet meeting from LeRoy Collins, former Democratic governor of Florida who now heads the Community Relations Service set up under the 1964 civil rights law.

Collins told Johnson that during a recent trouble-shooting mission to Selma, Ala., he saw indications that "the principles of fair employment and non-discrimination to which the federal government is strongly committed do not appear to be applied in the various federal agencies there."

Collins later told a news conference he was talking about the Social Security office, the post office, the agricultural services, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Justice Department and Selma's Craig Air Force Base.

Johnson responded by saying that in all government offices "there must be equal treatment, equal respect, equal service — and equal support — for all American citizens regardless of race or sex or region or religion."

Provisions of Federal Aid To Education Bill Rapped

Congressman William H. Harsha of Ohio' 6th District has charged the Administration's education bill is a general aid measure cleverly designed to introduce the Federal government into the field of elementary and secondary education that would ultimately destroy local and state control over our educational system.

Alice Ewing's Trial Slated For Delay

CINCINNATI (AP) — Court-house sources said today Alice Ewing's trial on charges of illegally moving a body will not be held until after her fiancé, Robert Ray Abbott, is sentenced for first degree murder.

The charge against Miss Ewing, 22, Port Thomas, Ky., is a misdemeanor punishable by a $500 fine and six months in the workhouse.

A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury convicted Abbott, 21, Dayton, Ky., on Wednesday of killing Wanda Cook, 24, Bellevue, Ky., last Oct. 15. The jury recommended mercy, thus making a life sentence mandatory.

Abbott's attorneys say they will appeal the conviction.

Miss Ewing, who was visibly upset at the verdict, tried Thursday to see Abbott at the jail. Jail officials told her to try again next week. Normal visiting days at the jail are Wednesday and Thursday.

During the two-week trial, the defense contended Miss Ewing killed Miss Cook in a moment of jealous rage. She denied this but admitted she helped Abbott move the body from a downtown hotel where the slaying occurred. The body was shipped in a trunk to Cleveland.

The frozen food industry has been growing by about 10 percent a year, with sales for 1964 estimated at near the $5 billion mark.

district to determine if it is complying with his criteria.

"Title I also provides that public school districts are required to adopt a program dealing with children attending non-public schools based again on the criteria laid down by the federal commissioner of education.

"Title II provides $100 million for the purchase of textbooks—while state boards of education approve these books and they are to be used by children in both public and private schools, I fear that ultimately the commissioner of education will be suggesting what books will meet with his approval.

"Title III provides $100 million to establish supplemental education centers over which the states have absolutely no control. This is a setting - up of a separate school system, granting the federal commissioner of education complete authority to fund only those centers he wishes on the basis of his own criteria or the terms he lays down. These federal - local schools are responsible only to the U. S. Office of Education.

"Title V provides for $25 million in grants to state boards of education without matching state funds. These funds again are spent only as the commissioner of education sees fit. If this isn't sufficient to induce a subservient status, it further provides for an exchange of personnel between Washington and the state boards of education."

The Ohio lawmaker claimed that never before has so much leverage been granted a federal commissioner of education, never before has the U. S. Office of Education been granted so much ability to shape educational policy.

Harsha said, "This is just the bear's nose in the beehive — when he smells all that honey, he's going to go all the way into the hive."

"This measure", he states, "will ultimately lead to complete federalization of our educational system. Historically when the federal government enters a field, it winds up dominating it."

"While I am fully cognizant of the financial needs of the boards of education in Ohio, in my judgment, no amount of Federal money can compensate for federal control of textbooks curriculum and instruction of our children. I still believe in the sovereignty and independence of our local boards of education," the congressman concluded.

Democrats See Republican Gag On Fund Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democrats have charged Republicans in the Ohio Senate with using "gag rule tactics" to sidetrack their proposal for a look into GOP administration expenditures.

The charge came Thursday during a parliamentary quarrel on a motion that eventually sent the proposal to the Senate State Government Committee over bitter Democratic protests.

Democratic leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, and Sen. Charles L. Pancake, D-Nelsonville, sponsored the resolution which requested the resolution which requested an audit of administration spending on "Wonderful World of Ohio" pamphlets and the new state highway map.

The Senate hassle and House passage of a measure gearing Ohio laws to the federal economic opportunity act marked the end of the general assembly's 10th week of work. Both houses return Monday night.

Majority leader Theodore M. Gray, R-Miami, touched off the Senate wrangle when he moved to send the King-Pancake resolution to committee.

King objected on grounds that the administration has spent "almost one million dollars of the taxpayers' money in a veil of secrecy" and asserted the proposal should be given immediate attention.

"All we want is some simple answers to some simple questions," he declared. The resolution refers to "seemingly irregular financing" of the pamphlet and map which "promote four highly partisan issues on the May Primary ballot."

The vote to send the resolution to committee was 15-12 with four Democrats and one Republican absent from the evenly divided upper chamber.

Receiving Senate approval were minor measures conveying land in Portsmouth to Robert E. Graf and naming a new span crossing Sandusky Bay the "Thomas A. Edison Memorial Bridge." Both measures now go to the governor.

Twenty-five new legislative proposals introduced in both chambers included proposals to permit election boards to maintain branch offices in municipalities other than county seats.

Physical Danger, Strain of Covering News Is Increasing, AP Chief Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — West Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, said in his annual report today that the physical danger and strain of covering the news have increased abroad and at home.

"Reporting the bitter, brutal war in Viet Nam subjected AP reporters and photographers to the danger of injury and death, as did the savage fighting in the Congo," Gallagher said.

"Domestically, racial rioting in several cities required physical courage for the needed closeup coverage.

"The long election contest with its jet campaigning from city to city made political reporting a contest of physical endurance."

The general manager's report covered a wide range, including use of the Network Election Service in covering the 1964 presidential balloting, technical improvements in speeding the news, and steps taken to meet the needs of an increasing number of youthful readers.

The report was mailed to members of the worldwide news cooperative in advance of the AP annual meeting and luncheon to be held April 19 in New York. Gov. George Romney of Michigan will be the luncheon speaker.

Gallagher said the face of journalism is being changed rapidly by a revolution in news, largely because "half the population of the United States has been born since 1936, and the median age of readers and viewers gradually grows younger."

The youthful generation, he said, is better educated and puts a premium on quality. He said that the AP and a new generation of publishers, editors and broadcasters are making every effort to provide it.

"This youthful population knows little of World War II — they were too young for firsthand knowledge and school history books seldom keep up with the rush of human events," he continued. "But they know a lot about astronauts, lasers, hot lines, random access computers and a hundred other subjects that did not exist a generation ago.

"Writing for both the older and younger generations, each with different background knowledge, presents unique challenges which The Associated Press is meeting with a combination of youth and experience. Well aware of the need for fresh ideas and new talent, the AP has encouraged younger staffers as writers, editors and executives."

Gallagher said new publishing technology is breaking the chains of obsolescence in printing plants and that the impact of electronic journalism is resulting in new reporting, writing and editing techniques.

Some of the major AP changes and developments of the past year, he said, were:

A blending and broadening of the news and photo reports by combining the best of news features, business news, and women's news with the general news report. Greatly expanded use of different techniques such as surveys, exclusive interviews, question and answers, situation stories, polls of Congress, national roundups of current events, more texts sent by high-speed wires, development of more specialists, task force approaches to big news stories, and a premium on enterprise stories beyond the day's news.

On-the-job training programs for promising young AP men of foreign nationality in New York and training of young African journalists in Paris;

Use of AP's computers to automatically justify lines of type in type-by-wire services, and the start of programming for a vastly improved computer system. Automatic justifying is a process for making lines of printers' type come out flush on each side of a column.

"The Associated Press in 1964 became the first press association to compose its wire copy by computer," Gallagher said. "As a result automatic justification of lines of type was introduced for the first time to hundreds of AP member newspapers."

Describing the presidential election as the No. 1 story of 1964, Gallagher said:

"The collection and tabulation of the vote on Nov. 3 was an historic event. For the first time, the major news organizations in the United States joined together to form a pool, covering vote totals nationally and in all states for president, senator, governor and house of representatives.

"The results were outstanding in terms of speed and the cooperation of all participants."

Gallagher cited other innovations in campaign coverage.

"AP newsmen accompanying the presidential and vice-presidential candidates were equipped with tape recorders," he said. "This assured precise reporting and a check against any charges of misquotation."

"For the first time, we sent traveling staffers with the vice-presidential nominees on a full-time basis."

Gallagher said there was much criticism of press coverage at the beginning of the campaign, but quoted Barry Goldwater, the Republican candidate, as saying when it was over:

"Some of the misunderstanding about the press handling of campaigns, I am convinced, arises from the tendency of many readers to confuse news stories with editorials, and reporters with columnists."

Gallagher listed the continuing civil rights struggle, with its impact on the North, and the Alaska earthquake as the second and third major domestic stories of 1964.

The general manager reported a net gain of eight AP daily newspaper members in 1964.

No other car of its size offers more

No matter how you look at it, this car makes a lot of sense.

If you're interested in value (and who isn't), the eleven features above give you a good idea why more intermediate-size car buyers are thinking Chevelle.

If you're looking for a wide power choice, Chevelle starts out with a standard 120-hp Six, an ideal city performer. After that you may order from a variety of engines that turn it into an even greater highway performer.

Room? Large door openings. Wide curved side windows for extra shoulder room. Great front and rear leg room. Those four, five or six passengers have it made. And so do you. Chevelle may seat like a big car but it handles like a smaller car.

Comfort? Thick wall-to-wall carpeting in Malibu models. Foam-cushioned seats. Easy-to-read instrument panel. The whole interior looks like those in cars costing far more.

Come on down to our showroom and take a drive soon. Chevelle begins to make even more sense after you've gone a couple of miles.

Ominous Is Right

The new commissioner of internal revenue, Sheldon S. Cohen, thinks Form 1040 is "positively ominous looking." In the opinion of millions now wrestling with it, Mr. Cohen couldn't be more right.

But it is not appearance alone that makes Form 1040 intimidating. Each year, despite repeated attempts at simplification, its prose becomes more unintelligible. Mr. Cohen promises a new effort to reduce 1040 to plain English, but experience provides no reason to anticipate he will succeed.

An income tax form, Mr. Cohen thinks, "shouldn't be something that horrifies and frightens" the taxpayer. A considerate thought but an unrealistic one.

Conceivably 1040 could be made as lucid as a first grade reader but, as everyone knows from childhood's fairy stories, simplicity doesn't remove horror. Clear or dense, as the form may be, the reckoning must always be painful.

Only a Sniff Away

The heading over the story said that "Being Frisky in Spring Can Be Fatal Folly." The story was not written by a snob sister giving advice to the love-lorn.

It was a serious article that warned middle-aged men not to exercise too much when spring suddenly appears around the corner. Don't be like a young colt, that is — act your age and your heart may keep you alive for many more leisurely years.

How many heartbreaks have been caused by springtime coltishness? Fatal? Of course not. The love bug's bite seldom kills anyone.

Being frisky is another thing. Most people who are reasonably healthy feel frisky when spring can be sniffed in the air. They kick up their heels, high or otherwise, and their thinking apparatuses begin spinning on the turntable of love.

So into the waste basket with that heading, and sing a song to the joys of spring fever.

Memorial Yields Fortune

NEW YORK (AP) — Ray Stark may become the first man in history to become a millionaire by investing in the memory of his mother-in-law.

"I can't think of anyone else who made money that way," said Stark, grateful son-in-law of the late comedienne, Fanny Brice.

A year ago he launched on Broadway "Funny Girl," the musical based on Miss Brice's career. Starring Barbra Streisand, it cost more than $650,000 — the largest amount up to that time ever spent on a Broadway show.

In the 12 months since then it has turned the profit corner and grossed in the neighborhood of $5 million, not including the sale of recordings.

Two road companies and a

London production are planned and, of course, a film.

As executive vice president of Seven Arts Productions, the 49-year-old, sandy-haired producer will supervise the shooting of 16 films here and abroad this year.

Ray entered Rutgers University at the age of 14½ and three times was thrown out for inattention to his studies.

After toiling briefly as a copy boy and cub reporter here, he drove to Hollywood, sharing his battered auto with a 67-year-old woman to save expenses. There, he worked successfully as cemetery florist, vacuum cleaner salesman, studio hand, and magazine editor.

Then he became a highly successful Hollywood agent.

"But the actors were getting 90 per cent, and I was making 10 per cent," Stark recalled. "So I decided to make a stab at the 90 per cent."

The idea of building a story around his mother-in-law, Miss Brice, the famed "Baby Snooks," came to him more than 10 years ago. He is married to the comedienne's daughter, Frances. They have two children.

"I adored Fanny," he said. "She was such a strong dame. We all still miss her terribly."

The romance and marriage of the strong-willed Miss Brice and her equally strong-willed husband, gambler Nicky Arnstein, which became a tabloid saga, is the basis of "Funny Girl."

GOP Search for Horses

By John Chamberlain

The hunt for good Republican horses is on all over the land, and it is producing arguments that are sometimes interesting and sometimes almost incredibly frivolous. In this latter category there is the contention that the Republican Party won't win unless it can find new leaders who are photogenic. One justification for making Representative Gerald R. Ford of Michigan the Minority Leader in the House was that he "looks like John Glenn," whereas the deposed Charlie Halleck of Indiana suggested the late W. C. Fields to some TV-viewers. This sort of thing is bound to backfire unless, by chance, the Republicans can come up with potential beauty contest winners who are also blessed with a more fundamental political appeal. After all, it should be remembered that Barry Goldwater was and still is an extremely handsome man, but his personal glamor couldn't survive the propaganda about trigger-happiness.

The winning G.O.P. horse, if and when he arrives at the starting post, will be a figure who makes some definite connection with basic American yearnings, and my own conviction is that the new Republican leaders will be men who are strongly identified with improving the quality of American life no matter what new social and industrial and political forms it may take. It will not be enough to be for States' Rights; the leaders of the future, if they are to make a case for decentralism, must be for good States' Rights. And no matter what form aid to education takes, it must will boomerang on its supporters.

You can get a sense of what the future is going to demand if you read the letters in college newspapers. I pick one at random, as typical: "Students in the last few years have demonstrated a desire . . . to make a commitment to a better society, not the Great Society of slogans and spectatorship, but to a society that can only be achieved by people committed to positive action and participation." This sort of thing could degenerate into mere busybodydom, but the hunger behind it is real and legitimate. And it will increase as the young get older.

What prospective Republican leaders are hewing to the qualitative line? I hear the name of Senator Dominick of Colorado mentioned, but he is not yet identified with any particular issue. Richard Nixon has been going great guns, making relaxed speeches and impressing everybody with his command of foreign affairs, but he has not been bearing down on domestic problems. Republican liberals such as John Lindsay of New York and Charles Mathias of Maryland may appeal to the East, but in the Middle West they are pseudo - Democrats, and in California they are virtually unknown.

As for the Californians, Ronald Reagan and Senator George Murphy, they will have to prove themselves both in and for their home state before they can jump over the Rockies. And big party figures such as Rockefeller, Scranton, Lodge and Romney have considerable healing to do if they are to surmount the bitterness of past factionalism.

The qualitative note has been sounded in one Republican quarter by Representative Melvin Laird of Wisconsin.

"The Republican Party," he has said, "does not intend to spend this Congress doing nothing but copy - catting Administration programs — but at bargain prices. We do not say that we must do the same things as the Administration but do them better. We say there are better ways for Americans to do things."

Laird is the champion of a meaningful decentralization of power which would return tax sources to the states to handle their own problems of school costs and housing troubles. He won't make much headway in this Congress, but he has staked out a claim for the future if heavy federal spending results in mediocre quality in the benefits it is intended to confer. That Laird is a power is proved by the alarm he excites in Republicans who would copycat the Administration. In the "New Leader", a semi-socialist magazine, George F. Gilder, formerly of the Republican "Advance", writes: "Such members of the Wednesday Group as John Lindsay . . . are distracted with the idea of getting out of the House and moving on to higher office, while in the House Laird is more influential than all of them together."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ON HIS FIRST stopover in Las Vegas, a tourist became enamored of the slot machines. No sooner did he run out of a stack of quarters, than he changed a ten-dollar bill for another supply. Finally there were no more tens left in his wallet. "Don't these darn machines ever pay?" he demanded of no one in particular.

The cashier took it upon himself to answer. "They sure do pay," he asserted warmly. "They pay the rent. They pay the croupier and attendants. They pay me. They pay just fine, sir."

A TV columnist, attempting to analyze the secret of Carol Burnett's tremendous appeal, noted, "It may surprise you, but if you'll study Carol closely enough, you'll discover she's almost very pretty."

Miss Burnett was not too delighted with this analysis. "You can tell the so-and-so," she instructed her press representative, "that that was almost very decent of him."

From an Indian on a New Mexico reservation came this bit of advice to Vice President Hubert Humphrey: "Dear V.P.: Be careful in revising those immigration laws of yours. We got careless with ours. (Signed) A Native American."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The final days of the year's first quarter are seeing a spurt that is pushing the nation's economy to an unexpectedly high level. It is making this spectacular gain with the help of some unusual incentives, such as fear of a steel strike, but also in the face of some setbacks that normally would have dragged it down.

First estimates put the gain in the first three months of 1965 as perhaps the largest since World War II.

This was accomplished despite: Blizzards that cut factory production, notably of autos, at times in the industrial Midwest and Northeast;

Dock strikes that for weeks paralyzed traffic in and out of Atlantic and Gulf ports and stymied production of export goods, and an up and down stock market that reflected investor — and business — concern over international developments and over the very age of the present business upswing, now into its fifth year.

The economy admittedly has been helped by nervousness over a steel strike deadline May 1 which has led users to try to build up inventories as a hedge and record auto production and sales with much of the demand, at least in the first weeks of the year, traceable to catching up after the auto strikes of last fall.

But steel's record production now is due to other things besides just strike hedging. Use of the steel has risen so high that purchasing agents haven't been able to build up the inventories they set as goals.

Auto sales are running far above a year ago, with last fall's strikes almost forgotten. Latest sales figures show some models running ahead of this time last year by from 19 to 36 per cent.

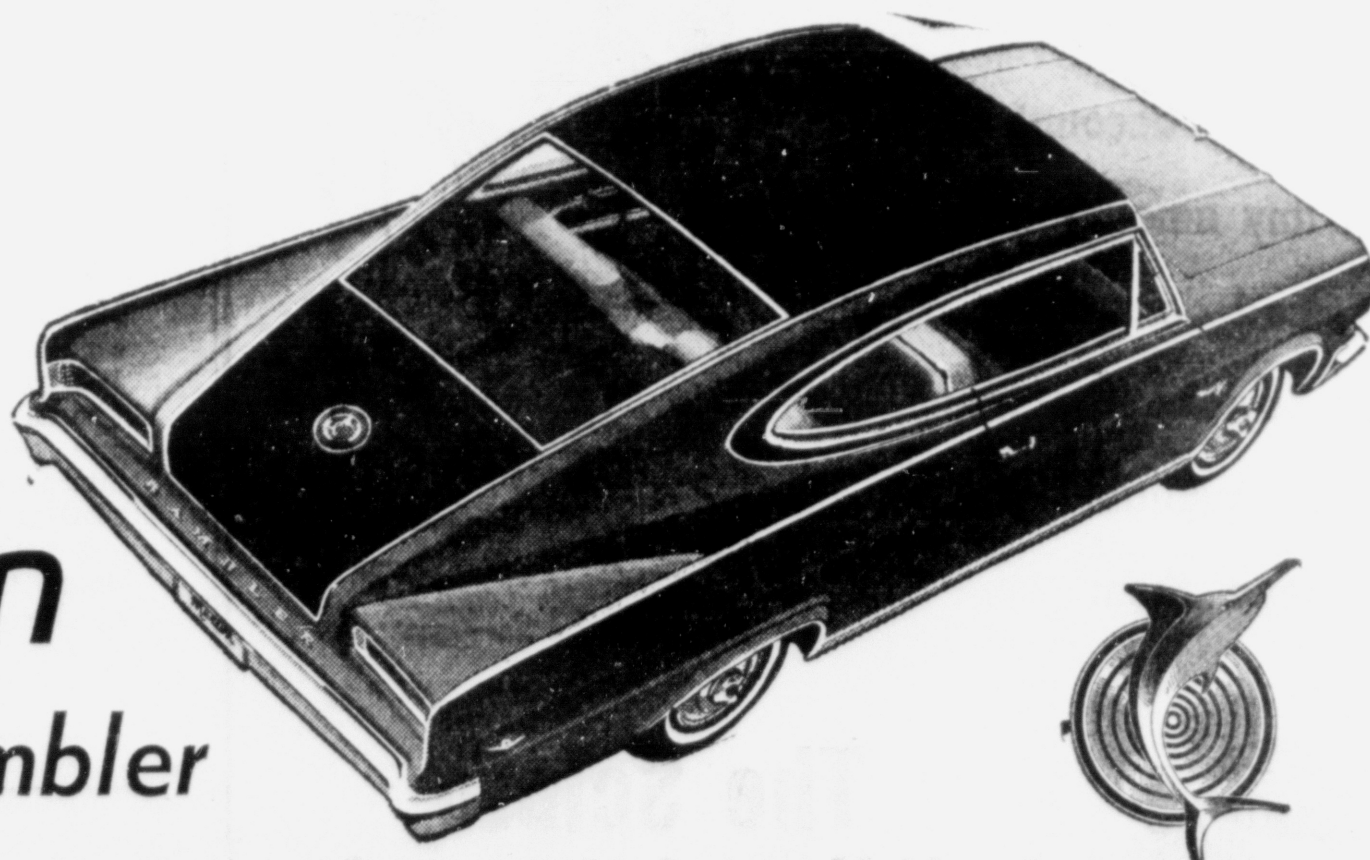

Spending for new construction, despite lagging housing demand, is now running well above the first year as well as far above year ago figures.

The economy's big upward surge thus seems tied to other things than just nervousness over labor troubles in the offing or effects of past strikes.

17-Year Locust Due in Eastern Ohio This Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This is the year of the locust for eastern Ohio.

After 17 years, the periodical cicada—more commonly known as the 17-year locust—will swarm out of the ground in about half of the state.

Three other areas won't get the locusts for several more years—and a northerly fringe of counties doesn't have them at all.

Nobody knows why the locusts don't appear in some counties. Neither does anybody know why Ohio has four distinct "broods" of the locust, which appear in different years.

"That's the way the white man found them when he came to this country," said Dr. T. H. Parks, retired Ohio State University entomologist who has observed the locusts since 1902, "and that's the way they have stayed all these years."

The 1965 hatch will be the largest in Ohio, covering nearly all the eastern half of the state. Starting in late May thousands of locusts which have spent 16 years buried in the earth will emerge, sprout wings, then seek trees or branches on which to lay eggs—starting another 17-year cycle.

The egg laying does most damage to fruit trees, shrubs and other plants. The female cuts a tiny slit in a branch to deposit its eggs. These slits cause twigs and branches to wilt and die or break off. They also permit other diseases to enter the tree or plant.

Locust larva feed on roots of trees and shrubs and do untold amount of damage by injuring root systems.

New insecticides can control the locusts and, Dr. Parks said, may spell the end to the cicada in commercial orchards and nurseries. The number of locusts has declined greatly since 1902, he said, but that's mostly because of the decline in forests and woodlands to harbor the insects.

The locust is "a big, clumsy thing" which doesn't move more than a hundred yards or so from where it emerges on a spring evening. The hatch begins in late May and by the end of June all the locusts will be gone. This may help explain why the locusts remain within four rigidly defined parts of Ohio.

A tiny area of northeastern Ohio will get its infestation in 1968. A large area of western Ohio will have locusts in 1970. In 1974, another hatch will come in southern Ohio, which had locusts last in 1957, the last time they appeared anywhere in the state.

Ohio is one of the few states with as many as four separate broods of the locust, Dr. Parks said, but nobody knows why it has so many.

Pickaway Grange

STAR

Third and fourth degree obligations were conferred on three candidates when Star Grange met in regular session this week.

Secretary Helen Schleich read a "thank you" note from Thomas McKinley for flowers received while he was ill.

She also read a financial statement of the Pomona Grange building fund from John F. Dowler. The lecturer, Mrs. Clyde Michel, reported that a talent contest will be coming up in June. She urged young people to enter.

Announcement was also made of the sewing and baking contests that will be coming up later this spring.

A contribution was made to CARE, and the group voted to protest the serving of intoxicating liquors at the Fairgrounds or in the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fairgrounds.

Mrs. Michel presented a program entitled "We Each Contribute" which opened with group singing. "There are Crowds," Jimmy Beathard read a poem, "When Life Begins Again." A contest on trees was held with all grangers participating and Mrs. Herman Porter received the prize for the most correct answers.

Patricia Schleich played a piano solo, "Chimes of Westminster" and a candle light service was held with fifteen members taking part, each representing the part they contribute.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Mostyn Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Michel and Fiem Blarr.

Bob Hope Books Another Look at Viet Nam Tonight

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One good show deserves another, and so Bob Hope will be presenting another look at Viet Nam on television tonight.

There will be laughter; there's Hope, there's humor, of course. But viewers will also see the seldom-revealed serious side of the comedian, especially in a plain-spoken dialogue with cartoonist Bill Mauldin, a recent visitor to the Southeast Asia battlefields.

Over breakfast at his North Hollywood manse this week Hope spoke reflectively about his experiences in Viet Nam and why he had scheduled the show on the war, following his well-received special on his Christmas tour.

"We had shot 30,000 feet of film on Viet Nam during our Christmas visit," he explained, "and we could only use a small portion of it. You see, the troupe entertained troops in 18 different spots and we had to include each of them. The folks back home who had boys in those places would have been upset if we didn't show them."

"The Viet Nam footage was something timely, provocative and interesting and all that footage would have been wasted if we didn't use it right away. And we added new film. It's interesting to see the same troops we entertained in the Philippines now landing at Penang; and the same helicopter we rode in reduced to ashes during the raid on Pleiku."

Tonight's show will also include North Viet Nam propaganda films which NBC acquired in Japan. Obviously this is no fun-and-games show. That's because Bob feels strongly about what is happening in Viet Nam.

Alliance Man Convicted In Pharmacist Slaying

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Glen Lamp, 25, of Alliance was convicted Thursday of first degree murder by a three-judge panel in Stark County Common Pleas Court.

Lamp was convicted of the April 25 slaying of Louis Nagy, an Alliance pharmacist. The panel recommended leniency. Sentence was deferred until Lamp's attorneys have time to file for an appeal.

"This is important to the history of the world," he remarked. "If they (the Communists) ever thought that we weren't going to protect the Vietnamese, there would be Viet Nams all over the world. That would be a whole lot worse than what we are facing now. Like it or not, we have fallen heir to the job of big daddy in the Free World."

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

What Took Her So Long?

DEAR ABBY: What do you think is wrong with a husband who, having slept in the same bed with his wife for thirty years, moves into another bedroom and has only been back to sleep with her twice in two years? And then it was only because they had overnight company and he was forced to sleep with his wife. On those occasions he slept on the edge of the bed with his face to the wall. The wife is not unattractive. In fact, she is always getting compliments on the way she dresses and the way she looks. She bathes every day and gets her hair done once a week. She can't understand the reason for his sudden coolness. Is it any wonder she is -

MISERABLE
DEAR MISERABLE: No, it's no wonder. But the wife need not go on being miserable for the rest of her life. She should have made an effort to find out

Local Branch Of AAUW Hears Speaker

"Education in India" was the topic discussed by John G. Odgers when members of the Circleville Branch of the American Association of University Women met Tuesday evening in The Carriage House, E. Main St.

Mr. Odgers is Director of the Division of Guidance and Testing for the State of Ohio Department of Education. He stated that his primary responsibility during his two year stay in India as a member of the Ohio State University College of Education faculty was to develop concept regarding guidance in the minds of school administrators throughout the states.

He also assisted state education officials in developing guidance programs. He participated in a survey of major problems and needs in connection with the development of guidance program in the secondary schools.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. Richard Fisher, president; Mrs. John Barry, recording secretary; Mrs. Winship Story, corresponding secretary.

Plans were discussed for guest night to be held April 27 at Nicholas Drive School.

the reason for her husband's "sudden coolness" two years ago. But it's better late than never.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a girl she is dirty? We are freshmen in high school and one of our classmates comes to school dirty every day. She does not comb her hair, she just "rats it" and lets it go. We would like to tell her as politely as possible that she is dirty, but we don't know how.

FROM INDIANA
DEAR GIRLS: There is no "polite" way to tell a girl she is dirty. Perhaps there is a reason why she is "dirty." Do any of you know what her home is like? Are there proper facilities for cleanliness? If there are and the girl simply does not know better, then one of the girls with whom she is close should have a frank talk with her - but in the spirit of kindness and helpfulness. And the same girl could help her improve her hair style.

DEAR ABBY: I know that no one is perfect, but I simply can not tolerate supposedly well-bred intelligent adults who display poor table manners. The number of grown-ups who do not know how to hold a knife and fork properly when cutting meat is astounding. I have even seen people sop up gravy with a piece of bread. Little things like buttering a whole roll or piece of bread without breaking it up into three pieces first is commonplace. Isn't there a nice way to correct people without hurting their feelings?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: Speaking of manners: The essence of good manners is to make your guest feel as much "at home" as possible, even though his table manners strike you as intolerable. Annoying as they are, "bad table manners" do not necessarily reveal an individual's more significant qualities.

DEAR ABBY: The young lady who wanted that airline pilot to wear his uniform when he dated her might be interested in knowing that it is against airline regulations for any member of its company to appear in a uniform in a night club or bar.

CAST IN MUSICAL — Miss Marty Dore, of Ashville, a member of the Independent Players of Columbus, will appear in the production, "The Sound of Music." It will be presented April 8, 9, 10 at the Hartman Theater. Miss Dore is employed as a legal secretary in the office of the Ohio Attorney General. She directs the youth choir of First English Lutheran Church, Ashville.

Canadian Elections in June Are Hinted

OTTAWA (AP) — After 23 months in office, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson is weighing the possibility of calling an election in June in the hope of gaining a parliamentary majority for his Liberal party.

Although prospects for a smashing Liberal victory are not good, some party strategists see even more of a gamble to postponing the election.

In fact, the opposition might force an election by a vote of no confidence if the prime minister hesitates too long.

John G. Diefenbaker, 69, Conservative leader, appears more enthusiastic about an election than Pearson, possibly because Diefenbaker's leadership is threatened. He may not lead the Conservatives if the election is deferred.

Pearson has never taken much to campaigning. He is 68 and is not overly enthusiastic about a campaign next year or the year after. Other factors, however, weigh against an early election.

Strategists of the two big parties have been somewhat shaken by the results of a recent poll which indicated both had lost ground politically since January.

A significant factor in the poll was the almost unprecedented number of voters who hadn't made up their minds. Three out of 10 reporting said they didn't know how they would vote if the election were held now.

"If this country is confused, it commented:

A Montreal Star editorial has every justification for its confusion, and nothing that has happened recently in the two main political parties has served to lessen it."

The Montreal Gazette said it was hard to see where Pearson could hope to make gains, but the Liberal party "should give both itself and the country a chance to see what can be done."

The Liberals now hold only 129 of the 265 seats in the House of Commons. The Conservatives hold 95. Minor parties and an independent account for the others.

It generally is believed that the Liberals have been hurt by scandals which brought the resignation of one Cabinet minister and one top aide in the prime minister's office.

The Conservatives undoubtedly have lost some support because of the fighting inside the party over Diefenbaker's leadership and over the new maple leaf flag — approved over Diefenbaker's opposition.

It is taken for granted that the Conservatives would attempt to turn the Ottawa scandals — mainly involving influence peddling — into a major campaign issue.

On the other side of the picture is the desire of the Liberals to take full advantage of a split in the Conservative party. By waiting another year they run the risk of having to campaign against a unified party, headed by a new and perhaps popular leader.

Racketeer Is Freed by Federal Judge

CLEVELAND (AP) — Declaring that government attorneys produced "not one scintilla" of proof, a federal court judge found racketeer figure Leo (Lips) Mocerri innocent of charges that he failed to file income tax returns for four years.

Mocerri, who told the court he now lives in Warren, denied from the witness stand that he had any income in the years 1958 through 1961. He said he had $70,000 in cash when he got out of the Ohio Penitentiary in 1957 after serving a five-year term for extortion.

Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch heard the case without a jury. He ruled Thursday.

Two Department of Justice attorneys who came from Washington to handle the case contended that Mocerri had gross income of more than $35,000 in the four years involved.

Prior to his extortion conviction, Mocerri and his wife had been roaming the country for 19 years as he fled a Toledo murder charge. When he was arrested on the West Coast and returned to Ohio the charge was dropped because the chief witness had died.

Lowndes County was one of the targets of the voter registration drive which started in Dallas County (Selma) in January. The county, with a population of about 15,000, has four Negroes to every white resident, but only two Negroes are registered to vote. There are about 2,400 white voters.

Lowndesboro is about halfway between Selma and Montgomery. The voting rights marchers spent Tuesday night near the town.

The car Mrs. Liuzzo was driving was about two miles from the nearest habitation and three miles west of Lowndesboro when the bullet ended forever her efforts to help others. She had been driving demonstrators along the march route for three days.

Her husband, Anthony said in Detroit, "She died doing what she believed in and she believed in people, whether they were white, black, Jew or Gentile."

Liuzzo, 51, a business agent for Teamsters Local 247, said he tried to discourage her from going to Selma when she telephoned March 16 from Detroit's Wayne State University where she was studying sociology. She wanted to go with three or four people from Wayne State.

When he asked her not to go, he said she told him, "We've got to go."

The Liuzzos have four children living at home. A daughter, Mrs. Barry Johnson, 17, has a home at Ringgold, Ga., and Mrs. Liuzzo's parents, Mr. and Elm, Teays Valley and Westfall Schools were awarded Good Citizenship pins at a reception held at the Pickaway Arms. The event was sponsored by the Pickaway Plains DAR Chapter.

"Life With Father," a dramatic production will be presented at the Teays Valley High School Auditorium 8 p. m. April 3. Main character in the production is Clarence Day who has troubles with charge accounts, relatives and four sons aged 6 to 18, not mentioning his wife Vinnie. Vinnie shows just how tactfully husbands can be handled and the four sons add their problems to the riotous confusion.

The Ashville Community Club will meet 7:30 p. m. Mar. 29 at the shelterhouse.

1920 Slaying Back in Court

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Leroy Dunlap's 45-year flight from justice reaches a climax today as he goes on trial for a second time for the 1920 slaying of an Akron restaurant owner.

Dunlap, now a 64-year-old white-haired grandfather, escaped from the Summit County Jail here May 12, 1920, while he was being tried on a first-degree murder charge in the hold-up-killing of Steve Bossos. He was convicted in absentia without a recommendation of mercy from the jury, which made the death penalty mandatory, but sentence never was passed formally because of Dunlap's absence.

Last October Dunlap was arrested at a soldiers' home in Washington, D.C., where he had been living since his retirement from the Air Force in 1959. He went by the name of Harry Walker.

Granting a defense motion for a new trial, Common Pleas Judge Stephen C. Colopy ruled in January that he could not sentence Dunlap to the electric chair on a verdict returned at the first trial. The judge said the stenographic testimony apparently was thrown out about 10 years ago and Dunlap would have no court record on which to appeal his conviction.

In addition to the absence of court records, the prosecution faces the obstacle of having very few principals in the first trial available for the second trial. Most of them have died.

But Prosecutor James V. Barbuto said he "can't drop this matter" in announcing he would try Dunlap for murder a second time.

"A crime has been committed," the prosecutor said. "I have to relate to the court what evidence I have."

Dunlap waived a jury trial and a three-judge panel will decide his fate this time. On the panel are Common Pleas judges John M. Kelly and William H. Victor of Summit County and Judge Robert E. Cook of Portage County.

Hubbub Is Conventional In Rabbinical Study Hall

WICKLIFE, Ohio (AP) — The large room is crowded with boys, clustered in groups and wearing black skull caps or snap-brim hats. From the noise, it seems all 200 of them are talking — loudly.

The apparent disorder would dismay most teachers. But the professor smiles with satisfaction as he goes from group to group, joining in discussion of the lesson from the Torah. He arbitrates disagreements, offers help.

He does not tell the boys to take their seats, to quiet down, to come to order.

The hubbub is order for the study halls which are the educational focal point at Telshe Yeshiva, a school teaching ancient lessons in modern setting.

It's name Telshe for the city in Lithuania where the rabbinical college was founded 90 years ago; and Yeshiva, the name for a Jewish institution of higher learning.

The college is "the only one of its kind to be transplanted to the United States," says Rabbi Mordecai Gifter, faculty head. When the Nazis began killing teachers and students in the summer of 1941, Telshe Yeshiva left Lithuania. It then had an enrollment of more than 500 and was considered one of the world's finest schools for Jewish studies.

Rabbi Elya Meir and Chaim Mordecai Katz fled through Siberia to Japan and came to America to find a new home for their school. With 10 American boys as students, it was re-established in Cleveland, Ohio.

Other rabbis fled to the United States via Siberia to join the faculty later.

The Orthodox Jewish institution thrived as a transplant, grew to 400 students, and moved from Cleveland to its present 54-acre setting on a knoll in this Cleveland suburb.

"We offer a full education in the principles of Judaism and the Torah, the Jewish canon law," Rabbi Gifter said. "What the boys use it for is their own prerogative. Not all become rabbis. There are only three other such schools in the country."

Telshe Yeshiva confers about 20 rabbinical degrees a year.

Teaching certificates may be earned by two years of college work. A rabbinical degree requires six years of college work and an examination.

The students, mostly from families of laymen, come from all over the United States and from 20 other countries.

"THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST SALUTE YOU". Rom. 16:16. A cordial welcome awaits you at the Church of Christ, 225 Moats Drive, Circleville, Ohio. The thought for today, "The Gospel of Christ". Just before Jesus ascended to heaven, about forty days after His resurrection, he said to his apostles, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature, he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be damned." Mark 16:15-16. Some years later Paul said the gospel was the power of God unto salvation Rom. 1:16; he also said we are saved by it. 1 Cor. 15:1-3. Everyone should be intensely interested in that which our Saviour commanded to be preached in this age, in as much as it was perverted in Paul's day. Gal. 1:7. It is not surprising that it is perverted today. People need to be on the alert to detect the difference in the doctrines of men and the gospel. A mutilated gospel cannot save. Bulky Warren Report Still In Demand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Almost six months after publication of the Warren report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, 140,233 copies of the report have been sold and orders still come in daily.

What is phenomenal, a Government Printing Office spokesman said today, is that 1,442 sets of the hearings, at $76 a set, have been sold.

The bulk of these latter orders has come from the ordinary John Doe citizen who wants to invest $76, he said. The set includes 26 volumes of testimony and exhibits assembled by the commission in its investigation into the assassination on Nov. 23, 1963, and weighs about 54 pounds.

By law, the government Printing Office makes no money on its publications.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "In this rapidly changing age, religion as well as the sciences, has been released from many old fetters. Baha'u'llah Prophet of the Baha'i Faith, has purged it of ecclesiasticism, austerity and superstition. No longer is blind acceptance of a creed permissible. The command has been given to all men to investigate independently, to seek truth through all available channels, science, art, work, worship, recreation, prayer and meditation.

"The aim of religion today is world peace through righteous living. As a nation, we have always risen to meet the challenge of war. Shall we fail to meet the challenge of Peace?"

Cleric Leads Campaign For Kindness to Animals

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A large-hearted clergyman acquainted with pain is working to get the churches to show more concern for all of the world's life — its animals as well as its humans.

"This is a sadly missing element in Christian ethics," said the Rev. Charles N. Herrick, newly named vice president of the Humane Society in the United States.

"Our churches have been almost completely silent about man's moral responsibility to forms of life other than his own."

The Rev. Mr. Herrick, 40, is a United Church — Congregationalist — minister and World War II and Korean War veteran who walks with twin canes as a result of combat injuries.

He said in an interview: "We need a civil rights movement for animals, too."

Instead, he sees a trend toward a hardening disregard for living creatures other than human beings, particularly in unrestricted laboratory experimentation with animals.

"We believe in research," he said, "but we know there are limits to what man can morally do to another living being. Knowledge is important, but so is compassion and love. Without them, we become mere computing machines."

That, he added, is the tendency — to exalt scientific knowledge above all else to the point that it becomes a kind of "God" itself, claiming its usefulness to man justifies any exploitation of other kinds of life.

The Rev. Mr. Herrick, a native of Little Rock, Ark., educated at Yale Divinity School and for the past 2½ years a pastor in Derby, Conn., took on his new post early this year.

He said he hopes to arouse churches to a sense of moral responsibility toward animal life in what he calls a scientific age inclined to degrade any form of living being except man.

He said a vast amount of pain is inflicted on animals "in every conceivable sort of experiment," without any standards of compassion. "Many researchers admit animals are being flagrantly misused," he said.

More than 300 million animals a year are used experimentally in this country — cats, dogs, monkeys, guinea pigs, goats, swine, mice, poultry and even horses, he said, with the number rising so fast it will be 3 billion by 1970.

Unlike Great Britain and European countries which regulate such use of animals, he said, the United States fixes no limits.

As for the states, he said, 13 of them exempt research laboratories from anticruelty statutes, and others either have no regulation or else they are ineffective in regard to experimentation.

He does not favor antivivisection laws or measures blocking legitimate scientific research, he said. His aim is simply to set standards of compassion in any dealing with life.

When A FELLOW Needs A Friend

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Parables of Judgment

OUR LORD'S PARABLES CONCERNING THE DISCIPLES' CONDUCT IN PREPARATION FOR HIS RETURN

Scripture—Matthew 25.

By R. H. RAMSEY

TODAY'S lesson is but a part of our Lord's great discourse recorded in Matthew 24 and 25. Over and over again He speaks of His coming back to earth. To emphasize and illustrate the significance His return should have in the daily life of His disciples, Jesus relates four unforgettable parables, two of which are assigned to this lesson.

The first parable concerns ten virgins, all with lamps, awaiting the arrival of a bridegroom at a marriage feast. Five of the virgins were wise and had plenty of oil for their lamps; the other five foolish, without extra oil. The bridegroom tarried somewhere, so the virgins slept. When the bridegroom finally arrived, the foolish virgins' lamps were out of oil, and when they asked the wise virgins for some of their supply, they were justifiably refused.

The foolish virgins went out to buy oil while the wise ones entered the marriage feast with the bridegroom; and the door was shut. When the foolish virgins returned and knocked on the door for admittance, it was denied them. Jesus concluded the parable with a warning to His disciples to be ever watchful for His return, for it could happen at any time.

Naturally, the bridegroom in the parable is Christ Himself;

His stewards? Because God is sovereign and loves to display His sovereignty. He gives the gifts unequally because He loves variety. He gives some men only a few talents because He has so many small spheres that He would have filled; because more than a few would be too many for some; and because in those with the fewest talents He often displays the greatness of His grace in saving souls.

Upon the day of reckoning, the discerning eye of the master detects the devotion, enthusiasm and single-heartedness of the two servants and he generously and warmly pronounces both good and faithful servants. The God of the Holy Scriptures is characteristically generous in His moral estimates of His servants, applying the same epithets freely wherever He finds single-hearted devotion to His cause.

Then too, this master who can only be identified as the Lord Himself, suggests that these talents are only a few things designed to lay bare the type of stewards we are. What, then, will the "many things" be?

The third servant, however, is declared "wicked and slothful" for he regarded the single talent as something he did not desire and buried it—not altogether unlike many professed and the virgins, the Church of Christ. All of its members are baptized in His name, but not all really hear His voice and follow Him. All are called Christians, and profess the Christian religion, but not all have the grace of the Spirit in their hearts and really are what they profess to be.

It is so now, and the Lord tells us it will be so when He comes again. The term midnight does not refer to the particular age when He will come, but only denotes that the waiting will be long and that darkness will still reign upon His return. And once the door is shut, no one's penitence, no one's prayer, no one's groaning shall cause it to be reopened to admit any others.

Watching means to be ever ready for the Lord to return. We are not to live a life of indolence and indifference, or to engage in any work or sinful habit that would make us ashamed to be called into the Lord's presence when He comes, for no man on earth knows the hour, day or year of Christ's return.

In the next parable, Christ uses the word "talent" to indicate, without distinction, all baptized persons. In God's sight we all have talents, for anything that can be used to glorify God is, indeed, a talent.

Why has not God given the same number of talents to all?

Five Attend DE Conference

By BOB PRITCHARD

On March 20 and 21, the State DECA Association held its 21st annual leadership conference. The theme for the conference was "Distributive Education — Gateway to Success".

Five CHS DE students attended the annual conference. They were Karen Woltz, Barbara Ballou, Linda Cassidy, Harold Lee and David Thompson.

The five Circleville students left at 8:30 a. m. Saturday and arrived at the Deshler-Cole Hotel in Columbus at about 9:14 to register and check into their rooms.

The first general session of the conference started at 10:30 in the ballroom of the hotel. M. E. Sensenbrenner, Mayor of Columbus, gave the welcoming address. The roll call of the delegates followed and the reports of the state secretary and treasurer were then given. The first session ended with the president's message and announcements.

After the first session, Linda Cassidy attended a "queen's luncheon". Linda was the local club's candidate for DECA Sweetheart of Ohio.

At 2:30 p. m. Saturday, Harold Lee and David Thompson entered contests in parliamentary law and business vocabulary.

On Saturday evening a banquet and ball was held at the Student Union of Ohio State University.

On Sunday morning a church service was held at the hotel and the last session was held shortly afterwards. At the third session the delegates voted for new state officers.

Herbert Barrett and the CHS students enjoyed themselves very much at the 21st annual conference which was the first such meeting for the local club.

CHS DECA Club members did a fine job of representing our high school and they are in hopes of sending even more local members to next year's state conference.

April Fool's Day Origin

By CAROLYN LEWIS

Observance of "April Fools' Day" originated in France in the 16th century after the adoption of the Gregorian calendar.

April first is a day when women, men and children play absurd, but harmless, jokes on "April Fools" or "April Fish" as called in the 16th century of France.

India has its spring festivals of Holi ending March 31, at which time pranks and tricks play a large part in the celebrations.

When April 1 comes let us remember that this is the time for jokes, but not ones which will destroy anyone or anything in a serious way.

Series Continues in CHS Staging of Courtroom Drama

BY CHERYL BRAY

This is the third in a series of articles on the Senior Class production of "Sequel to a Verdict".

A flood of testimony was heard this week as the Brundage kidnapping trial continued in its third week.

Among witnesses who took the stand, six introduced pertinent evidence.

As court convened Monday morning with the testimony of James M. Donner, the prosecution took the lead. Mr. Donner testified he acted as intermediary between the Brundages and the kidnapper making negotiations possible. Donner positively identified Otto Ludwig Grossmeir, the defendant, as the man with whom he had met.

The defense made a futile attempt to establish the possibility that a man known to his friends as Spike Peters could be the assailant.

Mrs. Campbell, a reputable handwriting expert who made a comparison and examination of the ransom notes with other writings of the defendant, declared, under oath, that they were written by the same person.

Tensions mounted day-by-day and rose to a fever pitch as the arresting officer, Department of Justice Agent Knapp, was cross-examined. Little convincing was needed after Knapp testified he had apprehended Grossmeir and taken bills from the defendant's possession which, when checked from a list of serial numbers on the ransom bills, were found to be one of the Brundage ransom bills.

Mr. Yamrich, a wood expert, also left little to be said as he testified that the ladder found at the scene of the crime was of the same wood as the floor boards in Grossmeir's attic.

Emotions once again took their toll as Mrs. Brundage, the infant's bereaved mother, again took the stand and stated, "They had found the child's body lying face down under some stones." This gory picture sealed the fate, be it failure or success, of the prosecution.

One spectator stated, "Both attorneys for the prosecution and the defense have so far given well of their talents."

District Attorney Warren commented, "This act has been called, and rightly so, 'the crime of the century'. When such a dastardly thing can happen in a supposedly civilized society, the citizens of that society must take it upon themselves to punish the guilty party. The evidence is clearly sufficient in this instance to convict and send to the electric chair this defendant. The jury shall, with no effort at all, realize this and bring in a verdict of guilty."

Defense attorney Martin told reporters, "This case is built entirely upon circumstantial evidence. I am convinced Otto Grossmeir did not commit this crime. After hearing the evidence given thus far, it is clear there has somewhere been a mistake, a drastic mistake in identification. I believe the State's attorney realizes this too but he doesn't have the nerve to admit he's wrong."

This has been called "The crime of the century, but if this innocent man is convicted that will be the true crime of the century."

All of the evidence, thus far, has fallen neatly into place; perhaps too neatly. The defendant has not yet testified and it is not entirely impossible that his vital testimony may tangle the neatly planned picture Attorney Warren has drawn for the sworn twelve.

Music Notes

With the Lenten season the CHS choir and Triple Trio again become active in the community.

"There's a Balm in Gilead", "I Heard a Forest Praying", "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked", and "When God Sees Your Garden" are the selections chosen for the Wednesday evening Lenten service at Trinity Lutheran Church, March 31. They will be presented by the Triple Trio.

The CHS choir presented its interpretation of the following, Wednesday, March 24, at the Trinity Lutheran Church: "Open Our Eyes", "Hear My Prayer", "I Got Shoes", and "All in the April Evening". These selections truly added inspiration to the service and it is felt the Triple Trio will also add to Wednesday's service.

Students Watch Gemini Space Shot

Take-off was 9:24 a. m. All students who were able to be watching in the CHS auditorium fastened their seatbelts. Gemini two man space shot was launched. It was a beautiful shot.

Two very outstanding men, Gus Grissom and John Young, took their places in the space craft at 7:24. After three orbits they safely landed at 2:15 p. m. in the Atlantic Ocean.

Paul Haney kept the students informed of the well-being of the pilots throughout the day.

In five to eight months the United States expects to be able to make its first spacewalk. Scheduled flight for the moon is 1970.

MARINEL LEIST

CHARLES CONRAD

By NANCY PICKEL
If our Student of the Week is not busy at the grindstone translating her Spanish assignment, which rates second to band, she may be found sleeping or reading one of Edna Ferber's books while her feet, covered with dirty sneakers, are propped upon her stack of hot rod magazines.

For those who have not recognized the description — this active student of CHS could be only Marinel Leist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willson Leist, 360 Watt St. A classical student, Marinel has been accepted at Elkhart University of Medical and Dental Technique.

Her activities include 4-H junior leaders, Rainbow Girls, and Central Ohio Tractor Pullers' Club. She is a member of the First Methodist Church. Besides these she has quite a list of hobbies from falling off of motor bikes, sewing, reading, dancing, and just plain getting into mischief.

If you have Marinel's friendship you possess that which is true and good. And it might be added, it is easy to fit into her living pattern if you like tractors, pizza, J. Edgar Hoover, chewing gum, or cigars. She is set against 6 cylinder autos (pink at that), rude people, capital letters and Jade East.

By BOB ANDERSON
The journalism class is honoring Phil Conrad as Student of the week. Phil is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conrad of 319 Sumpter Ave.

Nothing Wrong With Ageless Warren Spahn

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Roberto Clemente has malaria, Hank Aaron is recuperating from an ankle operation, and Bill Mazeroski has a broken bone in his right foot.

But there's nothing wrong with Warren Spahn.

Mickey Mantle has some leg trouble, Tim McCarver has a broken finger and Wayne Causey has a shoulder separation.

But there's nothing wrong with Warren Spahn.

Spahn, the ageless wonder of the Amazin' Mets, demonstrated his fitness Thursday with a light workout against the Mets' favorite foe, an outfit called the Yankees from the other side of New York.

The 43-year-old lefty spaced out three walks and four hits and allowed one run in six innings at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He also stroked a single, drove in a run with a sacrifice fly and hit a homer.

His performance helped the Amazin' run their winning string to four while the troubled Yankees, busily denying published reports of a club rift, now have lost eight of their last nine.

While the old southpaw made a major stride in his projected comeback from a dismal 6-13 season with Milwaukee last season, the dispatches from baseball's spring training camps were liberally sprinkled with reports of injury and ailment among front line players and overshadowed by the Yankee "feud" story.

The reports had a major rift developing between manager Johnny Keane and Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford. All concerned said there was nothing to it. Mantle played left field — and Keane's shifting of the outfielder from center to left was supposed to be what the feud was all about — without comment against the Mets.

Mickey did admit, however, he was having a little trouble with his oft-injured right leg, just one of many injury reports that are cropping up.

One of the biggest ones concerned Mazeroski. The Pittsburgh Pirate second baseman broke a bone in his foot while running the bases against the Chicago White Sox in Fort Myers, Fla. He'll be out five to six weeks. The Pirates also lost the game 10-4, with the White Sox getting homers from Tom Agee, Manly Johnston, Ken Berry, John Romano and Don Buford.

On a more positive note, Yankee castoff Ralph Terry became the first pitcher of the spring to go the route, scattering eight hits and one walk in pitching Cleveland to a 6-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels' "B" team in Tucson, Ariz. He struck out seven.

In the others out west, the Angels' varsity beat Boston 8-4 in Scottsdale, Ariz., and the Chicago Cubs edged San Francisco 8-7 in Mesa, Ariz.

Indiana Tankers Seek U.S. Crown

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Indiana's graceful divers and its record-breaking relay team had the Hoosiers off to a strong start in a bid for their first National Collegiate swimming title today.

Defending champion Southern California trailed Indiana 100½ to 75 with 12 events left despite a great performance by the Trojans' Roy Saari.

Bidding for a repeat of his triple triumph last year, Saari powered his way to NCAA and American records in the 500-yard freestyle Thursday night.

But that was not enough to offset Indiana's depth. The Hoosiers scored 37 points in diving and 28 more with the record victory in the 400-yard medley relay.

State Cage Semifinals Due Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 43rd High School Basketball Championship Tournament, crammed with color and competent competitors, launched its two-day stand today at Ohio State University's St. John Arena.

Eight teams, survivors of a starting field of 888, were still in the fight—and two of them were only a two-game winning streak away from the coveted crowns.

The Class A contingent, four smaller schools, had Minister (25-0) meeting Springboro Clearcreek (24-1), and Albany (26-1) clashing with West Salem Northwestern's 1958 champions (23-1), in afternoon semifinals.

Tonight, in Class AA, Columbus South (21-1) goes against Akron Central (22-3), and Lima Shawnee (25-0) opposes Cincinnati St. Xavier (23-2).

Winners of Friday's Class A combat meet at 2 p.m. Saturday for the jackpot, while the Class AA survivors meet at 8 p.m.

All four sessions were pre-game sellouts for the first time in the tournament's history. A paid attendance of 52,620 is assured, with an over-all figure of around 55,300—a huge increase over the crowd figure of some 6,500 for the 1923 inaugural when 32 teams participated over a three-day route.

The championship cast is entirely new—not one of last year's octet returning for another shot at the laurels. Dayton Belmont won last year's Class AA crown.

Royals Face Must Game With 76ers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Cincinnati Royals face a must game at Philadelphia tonight as the National Basketball Association divisional semifinal playoffs resume.

Philadelphia won the first game of the best-of-five Eastern Division series at Cincinnati Wednesday night 119-117 in overtime. Jack McMahon, Cincinnati coach, commented: "It's going to be tough for us going into Philadelphia one down. The next game is a must for us."

The St. Louis Hawks, playing a second straight game at home, will try to even the Western Division series at 1-1 by beating the Baltimore Bullets. The Bullets gained what Coach Buddy Jeanette termed "a psychological advantage" by defeating the Hawks Wednesday 108-105.

How big Wilt Chamberlain of the 76ers and Oscar Robertson of the Royals perform probably will be a vital factor in the game at Philadelphia. Chamberlain has been hampered by a stomach ailment and the Big O with an injured leg.

The third game of the St. Louis-Baltimore series will be played at Baltimore Saturday night. The Cincinnati-Philadelphia series shifts back to Cincinnati for a Sunday afternoon televised game.

Griffith Books Another Defense

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Emile Griffith is truly a fighting champion.

The 26-year-old native of the Virgin Islands doesn't have to be warned by any of the boxing bodies to get busy and defend his world welterweight crown.

Dapper Emile, a onetime milliner's helper who wears clothes a half year ahead of the current fashion, is fighting his 11th title scrap next Tuesday against Jose Stabile, the No. 1 contender, as the first half of the doubleheader championship card at Madison Square Garden.

In the second half, lightweight champion Willie Pastrano of Miami risks his crown against Jose Torres, the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker.

and Dresden Jefferson took the smaller school title for the second straight time.

Lima Shawnee's Indians, only unbeaten team in Class AA, were rated No. 2 in the final Associated Press poll taken when all the division's 412 teams were in action. Columbus South was ranked ninth and Cincinnati St. Xavier 11th. Akron Central, the Cinderella club, was 53rd.

In Class A all four qualifiers were in the top 10 of the final poll. Minster, only unsullied quintet still in the running, was third in the 476-teamfield, Albany 6th, Northwestern 7th and Springboro 8th.

Ohio's high school basketball coaches renewed their annual request for more and better tickets to the state championship tournament at their annual meeting here Thursday night.

Commissioner Paul E. Landis said he would consider setting up one section in Ohio State University's St. John Arena for the exclusive use of the coaching association members and said he hoped that would solve the problem in future years.

The cage coaches named Joe Siegfert of Akron Central and Roy Bates of West Salem Northwestern as coaches of the Yankee squad in the sixth annual North-South All-Star Game scheduled June 26 at Marion. The South coaching jobs went to Dick Berning of Cincinnati St. Xavier and Cliff Rose of Plain City Jonathan Alder.

Gary Duhaime of Lima Shawnee and Erroll Jacobs of Co-ton-ton Valley were named North alternates and John Colmery of Columbus South and Bob Anderson of Anna were the Rebel alternates.

Carolina Wrestling Champ Is Handicapped — No Legs

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Dicky Bryant, the North Carolina high school wrestling champion in the 98-pound class, has one disadvantage — both his legs have been cut off above the knees.

Gene Abercrombie, Dicky's wrestling coach at West Mecklenburg High School, said the youngster's opponents have some problems, too.

"Dicky is stronger in the arms and shoulders than most 98-pounders," he said. "But he does, of course, lack the advantage of legs."

"He has to do all his movements with his hands, and he has trouble pinning people because of his lack of balance. But the guy who wrestles him has a disadvantage, too."

Dicky's opponents also find the number of holds they can use restricted, the coach said. "Myers Park High School put a man on his knees in practice to get ready for Dicky. But they lost anyway."

Dicky normally walks very well on artificial legs, but he takes them off when he wrestles.

The 15-year-old boy became interested in sports after he lost his legs in a train accident when he was 10.

"I never did become too athletic until after my accident," he said. "But then I couldn't just sit around home and do nothing."

For a while, the youngster said, he was very depressed. He gives his physician, Dr. Edward R. Hipp Sr. of Charlotte, credit for snapping him out of it.

Now the friendly youth jokes about his handicap.

Dicky showed interest in wrestling for West Mecklenburg last summer. Abercrombie checked the rules, and found no reason why he could not wrestle.

Abercrombie said Dicky received help from Dr. Sam Barnes, wrestling coach at the University of North Carolina. "Barnes gave Dicky self-confidence," Abercrombie said.

Dicky won his state championship in Boone, N.C., Feb. 26-27. He won three of three matches, after winning three of three in regional competition and seven of eight in the regular season.

The youth likes all sports. In his spare time, he plays football, basketball, and baseball with his friends. He wears his artificial legs for these sports.

Redlegs Seek Sixth Victory in Row

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds will try to make it six baseball exhibition victories in a row today as the Houston Astros come to Lopez Field.

Powered by home runs by Tommy Harper and Art Shamsky, the Reds came back from a five-run deficit Thursday and beat Philadelphia, 7-6.

Footballer Vince Casillo of West Hampstead, N.Y., is a shot putter on the Army track team.

Ex-Collegians Setting Pace In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Sturdy ex-collegians who starred in football and basketball were running one-two as the $28,750 Azalea Open Golf Tournament moved into its second round today.

Claude King, 32, who caddied here at the Cape Fear Country Club, was $600 richer after picking up a bonus award for his seven-under-par 65 that won him the first-round lead Thursday.

The 6-foot-2, 207-pound former East Carolina College fullback was only one stroke ahead of Glen Stuart, part-time touring pro from Grand Rapids, Mich. Stuart, who has played only the winter tour for four years, returning each spring to his club job, finished spectacularly with a birdie and an eagle to shoot 66.

Stuart, 30, was a basketball star at Central Michigan in his college days. He also stands 6-foot-2, and weighs 195.

King, who coached and taught at a high school in Virginia Beach before becoming a touring pro four years ago, had a dream round, missing by two shots the tournament record Bob Toski set over the 6,700-yard, par-72 course 10 years ago.

East-West All-Star Tilt Is Awaited

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — That time-worn sports drama, Finesse vs. Force, is the attraction again here Saturday, with an all-new all-star cast.

The occasion is the renewal of the East-West College All-Star basketball game with coaches Doggie Julian of Dartmouth handling the West and Joe Lapchick of St. John's directing the East.

The statistics make the East a slight favorite. All-America Rick Barry, 6-7, led the nation in scoring (37.4 points a game), and the East also has All-America Fred Hetzel, 6-8, of Davidson (26.5) and 6-5 Billy Cunningham of North Carolina (25.9).

Julian's top scorer is Flynn Robinson of Wyoming (27.0), but All-America Gail Goodrich of UCLA (23.2) and 1964 All-America Dave Stallworth of Wichita (25.0) also pack the scoring punch.

Over-all the East averages 6-foot-6½ to the West's 6-4½, and has the scoring edge at 22.3 per player per game to the West's 19.6.

County Fishing Contest Slated By Outdoorsmen

Rules and regulations have been established for the county wide fishing contest to be sponsored by the Pickaway Farmer and Sportsmen Assn.

The contest has two divisions and will run April 1 through Nov. 31 of this year. Also scheduled is a special "children's day" on June 20.

According to Dick Redman, association secretary, the first division is limited to Pickaway County residents of any age. To be eligible, fish must be caught in lakes, streams or ponds within the county's boundaries.

Fish caught in pay lakes or other such commercial fishing ventures are not eligible for consideration, Redman emphasized.

SPECIES to be given consideration are small and large mouth bass, crappies, bluegills, muskies, walleyes and catfish.

A point system in which the fish's length and weight will be added together will be used to determine the largest of each species.

All fish, regardless of where caught in the county, must be weighed and measured at Thompson's Lakeside Supply Store at Hargus Lake.

The second division of the contest is open to non-county residents fishing at Hargus Lake only. Species to be considered are bass, muskies and crappies.

Many local sporting goods and hardware stores are donating prizes for the contest, as well as a number of nationally known fishing tackle firms, Redman said. He said first, second and third prizes will be awarded in each division if possible.

To date, the club has received

Headden and Rebel lures equipment from the Rodney, Orvis and Wright McGill Companies, and fishing line from the Trilene Co.

THE children's event is for youngsters, either boys or girls through the age of 12. It is scheduled June 20, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. at Hargus Lake.

The youngster's catches will be weighed and tabulated at Thompson's bait store. Mrs. Dick Redman and Mrs. Harold Wolford, as well as members of the Farmer and Sportsmen Assn. will assist.

Members of the rules committee for the fishing contest were Redman, Marion DeLong, P. J. Ranck, Eugene (Doc) Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Thompson and Russell Tippet, Pickaway County game protector.

Cleveland Pleased By Ralph Terry

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Ralph Terry, a 23-game winner in 1962 is out to prove something this year, and he isn't wasting any time about it.

The New York Yankees "gave up" on Terry last year and traded him to the Cleveland Indians after he turned in a meager 7-11 record.

Thursday Terry became the first major league hurler to go nine innings this spring, pitching the Indians to a 6-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels.

The competition on the Angels' scrub team may not have been the best, but that didn't bother a delighted Birdie Tebbetts.

"He still had to get the ball in there, and I know he worked as though he were pitching against the best hitters in the game," the Tribe manager enthused.

ORDINANCE NO. 26-63
AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF PURCHASING FIRE APPARATUS AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY
WHEREAS, the fiscal officer has certified to this council that the estimated life of the property and improvement to be purchased is at least five (5) years, and the maximum maturity of notes that may be issued to purchase said fire apparatus is four (4) years;

Now therefore be it ordained by the Council of the City of Circleville, Ohio:

SECTION 1. That it is hereby declared necessary to issue a series of four (4) notes in the principal amount of $25,000 of the City of Circleville, in accordance with the provisions of Revised Code Sec. 505.37, for the purpose of purchasing fire apparatus for the city fire department of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

SECTION 2. The said notes shall each be dated May 1, 1965, shall each be for the sum of $13,000.00, shall each bear interest at a rate not to exceed 6 per cent, and note No. 1 shall mature July 1, 1968; note No. 2 shall mature January 1, 1966; note No. 3 shall mature July 1, 1966; and note No. 4 shall mature January 1, 1967.

SECTION 3. That such notes shall be executed by the mayor and the auditor of said city and shall be sold to the public in the Third National Bank of Circleville, Ohio, and shall express upon their face the sum of $13,000.00, and shall be issued pursuant to this ordinance.

SECTION 4. That the said notes shall be offered to the public in charge of the Police Relief and Pension Fund for purchase, and if not taken by such fund, shall be offered to the officers in charge of the Police Relief and Pension Fund for purchase, and if not taken by such fund, shall be offered to the public at public sale in accordance with the law providing for the sale of such notes, for not less than par and accrued interest and at the interest rate specified in the offer of the purchaser which shall not exceed the rate mentioned in Section 2 hereof. The proceeds of such sale shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose for which said notes are being issued under the provisions of this ordinance. A premium and accrued interest shall be credited to the Note Retirement Fund to be applied to the payment of principal and interest on said notes in the manner provided by law.

SECTION 5. That said notes shall be the full faith, credit, and revenue of said city and are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. Any moneys over and above the par value and accrued interest resulting from the issuance of said notes shall be used only for the retirement of said notes at maturity, together with interest hereon, and is hereby pledged for purpose.

SECTION 6. That during the year or years while such notes are running there shall be levied on all the taxable property in said city, in addition to all other taxes, a direct tax annually in a sufficient amount to pay each of the said notes at maturity. Said tax shall be levied and collected by the auditor of said city, and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which, together with the interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of said notes, when and as the same fall due.

SECTION 7. It is hereby determined and recited that all acts, conditions and things necessary to be done, precedent to and in the issuing of said notes, in order to make them legal, valid and binding obligations of the City of Circleville, Ohio, have happened, been done, shall be done in regular and due form and as required by law; and that no limitation of indebtedness or taxation, either statutory or constitutional, will have been exceeded in the issuance of the said notes.

SECTION 8. That the Clerk of the Council is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the county auditor.

SECTION 9. That this ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, and safety of the city and its inhabitants, and for the further reason that immediate issuance and sale of the notes herein authorized is necessary to enable the city to enter into a contract for the purchase of fire apparatus at once, and thus to furnish adequate fire protection to the residents of the city; wherefore, this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and immediately after its passage.

News of World in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of federal troops and federalized Alabama National Guardsmen to protect the Selma-to-Montgomery civil rights march probably will cost the federal government at least $300,000.

Official cost estimates are not yet available.

However, the Army has said that pay and allowances alone average about $15 a day per man. With 1,860 Alabama Guardsmen and about 1,000 regular Army troops on duty in the Alabama situation, this totals about $43,000 a day. The federal effort began last Saturday, making this the 7th day of the operation.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Ruby Robertson, a teller at First Federal Savings and Loan Association here, told police a young man walked up to her window Thursday, flashed what appeared to be a toy pistol and nervously told her, "I need some money."

"You're kidding aren't you?" Mrs. Robertson asked.

"No lady, I'm serious."

"I'm sorry but we're fresh out of money," said Mrs. Robertson.

With that, the man fled. Police are still looking for him.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Air Force Chief of Staff Curtis E. LeMay says the Soviet Union may be hiding military intentions behind proclaimed peaceful activity in space.

LeMay told the National Security Industrial Association Thursday that such Soviet action could lead to this country losing its balance of military power.

The speech was LeMay's first since retiring from active duty on Jan. 31. It contradicted remarks made Monday by civilian space chief James E. Webb. Testifying before the Senate Space Committee, Webb said he doubts that the Russians can develop a surprise military space capability which would upset the balance of power.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says nearly half of the nation's working families have more than one wage earner.

And a department survey said working wives make up the bulk of the additional jobholders.

The report said the number of working wives increased by 325,000 last year.

MOSCOW (AP) — American photographs of the moon's surface may help the Soviet Union in its attempt to land a cosmonaut on the moon before the United States, a Soviet astronomer says.

Professor Alexander Markov told the Soviet news agency Tass Thursday that Soviet scientists are studying photos taken last year by the American Ranger 7 satellite. He said they were supplied by "American colleagues."

The Soviets have not hit the lunar surface with a satellite since 1959. Their last announced moon probe, in 1963, missed.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks and the viewers had their troubles Thursday.

There was just too much going on that TV could cover and in their efforts to please everyone, the networks can only expect to reap a lot of complaining letters.

Under normal conditions, daytime television belongs to the housewives who enjoy suffering vicariously through the soap-operas and to children of all ages who are moved by the exploits of Felix the Cat and the Three Stooges.

But the freedom marchers, rallying before Alabama's Capitol in Montgomery, and the Gemini astronauts, coming home to Cape Kennedy, pretty well fixed all that.

These events, live on the screens of the three major networks during much of the afternoon, undoubtedly produced many viewers who were furious at missing the most recent chapter of "The Secret Storm" on CBS and "The Match Game" on NBC.

ABC, by its persistent coverage, won most of the gold stars. It kept up with the progress of the marchers with short, live camera sequences that interrupted programs briefly before all networks moved to the rally before the Capitol building.

Along with the other networks, ABC stayed with the dramatic story until the preliminary, lesser oratory started. It returned before Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., started to speak as did the others. Then they moved fast to cover the press conference of our newest heroes of space.

Both Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young handled the press meeting like veterans.

With two big stories to handle, all networks acquitted themselves well.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Tonight — Bob Hope comedy special, NBC, 8:30-9:30 (Eastern Standard Time), consisting of unused film footage shot during Hope's Christmas tour of overseas military bases.

Sunday — "Cavalcade of Amateurs," CBS, 5:30-6 p.m., part one of two programs tracing the development of the amateur show.
